Due to Hurricane Irene, Redistricting Hearings Postponed

Hearings scheduled in Harford and Baltimore counties postponed until later date

BALTIMORE – The Governor's Redistricting Advisory Committee has announced that the public hearings scheduled for Saturday, August 27, 2011, at Harford Community College's Amoss Center in Bel Air and Towson University have been postponed. Due to an advisory that Hurricane Irene will hit the region late Saturday, Towson University and Harford County Public Schools, which manages the Amoss Center, have cancelled all activities tomorrow. The committee will announce rescheduled dates and times for these hearings as soon as possible.

Governor Martin O'Malley declared a state of emergency on August 25, 2011, as Hurricane Irene, a category three hurricane, is expected to track up the East Coast and into Maryland. More at: mema.state.md.us
